

The Amway Center Art Collection, curated by Sports & The Arts, is comprised of over 140 pieces of original artwork and over 200 pieces of museum quality photography. The Collection is valued at over one million dollars. A total of 21 artists have contributed works to the Collection, 14 of which are local to central Florida. Commissioned artworks include abstract, figurative, digital, photo painting, and mixed media styles.

The artwork is also being taken out of the event center and to the public. Several pieces of original artwork created for the Amway Center Collection will be used by the Lynx Bus System for bus wraps.

Housed throughout the building are historical photos from Orlando's history, including a Then & Nowseries featuring famous Orlando landmarks and vintage photos of the downtown area. In addition, several pieces of original Church Street Station memorabilia from the 1970s has been restored and will be housed in the event center restaurant.

Following please find information on each artist who have contributed to the Collection as well as a images of some of their artwork included in the Collection.

Shelley Lake

Shelley Lake received a BFA from the Rhode Island School of Design in 1976. In 1979, Lake earned a Master of Science degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and became the first female graduate of the Architecture Machine Group. Featured in numerous international art exhibitions and film festivals, she has won three Clio awards and an Academy Award for technical direction for The Last Starfighter.

